

There are two aeration basins at the plant that operate in parallel and are coupled to the upstream captor basins